

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A flow control scheme for use with a flow circuit, including a fluid transfer device such as a pump or a compressor. The flow control scheme monitors the power and pressure differential of the fluid transfer device. The flow control scheme is capable of maintaining 5 the flow of the fluid transfer device at a baseline value in response to varying operational conditions within the flow circuit.